PART IL-CHAPTER LIII. Dr. Cloven observed with satisfaction the signs that told him his strategy was succeeding. Mary Brook no longer spoke of Rasher.

As days passed with no letter or telegram from him the ache in her heart was followed by the bitter hurt to her pride. She couldn't bring herself to "pursue him," as the doctor had phrased it, and into her eyes came a careless light foreign to them.

It was now that Dr. Cloven, with calculated tact and understanding, employed those charms of manner which had served him so well in the past. Although never referring to Rasher, he was always tenderly sympathetic.

sympathetic.

He found many opportunities of being with her. Unsuspected sides of his nature were revealed. He would sit rapt and silent before a beautiful sunset; he was tenderly solicitous for her mother; he repeated to her treasured passages from strangely stirring poems.

It was a game with Dr. Cloven. He was studying her reactions as an analyst would work out an interesting formula in chemistry. He had done it often before with different subjects, and it amused him to see if the results would be the same with a stri of Mary.

if the results would be the same with a girl of Mary Brook's sensitively refined nature.

After all disappointments in love, where the pride is touched, there comes the rebound, and with it a spirit of definit recklessness.

As he watched her and saw the hurt look in her eyes and the trembling of her lip he noted the abrupt transitions to nervous gayety, and, from his experi-ence, he knew what had passed through her mind. He was too clever to make a direct advance, as yet,

It would be more effective to give her several days of wondering what he was going to do. He would be in her thoughts and, for the present that was the best strategy. He would know when his time came, for he had catalogued in his mind the various stages through which a woman passes before at last the softened giance reveals that her interest has been captured and under the twinkling starlight, with the sound of lapping waters and the murmur of the wind in the pines, he fancied that the moment had almost come. Her smile was serene and unclouded. He did not know that a few minutes later she would be sobbing in her pillow as though her heart would break.

It was the first night of the full moon.
"We must see it come up tonight, Mary," said the doctor. "I'll have the canoe ready, and we'll paddle over to Prophet's rock. From the top we can get the whole sweep of the lake in the moonlight. You will never see anything more lovely."

"I'd like to go, doctor, but mother has been so rest-less this evening. I really mustn't."

"I'll look in and see how she is."

"I'll look in and see how she is."

Mrs. Brook was tossing fitfully in her bed, but after the doctor, impatient to be away, had hastily ministered to her, she sank into a profound slumber.

"She's resting quietly now, Mary," he announced, "and will get a good night's sleep. We must hurry or the moon will have come up."

He paused for a moment in his office, and when he presently reappeared his eyes were unnaturally bright and his cheeks were flushed. In his hand was a glass.

"Take this. It will keep you from being chilled on the water. Swallow it down. I'm prescribing it for you."

Mary swallowed the pleasant tasting liquid, which was sweetish and stimulating.

A few moments later they were moving silently across the ruffled surface of the water, the canoe making no sound as the doctor "Indian paddled" it with powerful strokes.

They climbed to the top of Prophet's rock in time to see the rim of the moon appear, flooding the eastern sky with mellow radiance. Neither spoke. The intoxicating beauty of the scene was stupefying.

For many minutes they sat thus. And it was only when the moon had cleared the pine crested hills that a black object was seen silhouetted against its yellow apleador.

INDIANA STRAW VOTE SHOWS BIG

COOLIDGE LEAD

Laporte, Ind., Oct. 28.—[Special.]—
Straw votes taken at random in thirty northern Indiana towns show a strong trend for the nomination of President Coolidge as the Republican candidate for President in 1924. Coolidge received star votes to 396 for Hiram Johnson, with scattering votes for other possible contenders for the nomination.

The experts, or a group of experts, says the official statement, "can in no case infringe upon the powers of the commission, which are fixed by article 234, which specifically states that the commission alone can extend delay and modify the mode of payments to be made in conformity with article 232.

Five county highway policemen and a sixth man who posed as a deputy sheriff, drinking and "shooting up" a saloon at 147th street and Western avenue, in wild fashion yesterday afternoon ended their hilarity by killing Paul Matioha of Posen, Iil., the father of five small children.

Daniel Doerne, the man who displayed a star and said he was a deputy sheriff, shot Matioha to death as the latter was attempting to escape after Doerne had "arrested" him. Doerne mysteriously disappeared after the shooting. The highway policemen who were said to have been in the saloon with him also faded away when the smoke cleared.

Sheriff Launches Quiz.

Sheriff Hoffman, notified of the shooting, began an immediate inquiry into the facts. He assigned Deputy have said then. He displayed a star. None questioned him and he insisted he would "arrest" Mailobs and "lock

THE LESSON OF OKLAHOMA

The state seriate of Oklahoma has accepted bill of impeachment of Gov. Walton from the lower house and suspended the executive pending trial of the action against him.

That is a legal, just, and orderly course of prosdure. It is fair to the governor, fair to the members of the legislature, fair to the citizens of Oklahoma, and fair to the principles of the

INTERSECTIONAL FOOTBALL.

Notre Dame's brilliant win at football over Princeton, following the win over the good West Point team, was unneeded evidence to show that ootball preëminence has ceased to be traditional and it has ceased to be eastern. One western coach has said that the eastern boys still begin collage football better grounded in the fundamentals than the western. They have inherited ore of it and have been drilled in it earlier. But along with that they have inherited some inhibitions. They do not take to the game in the air. Football games were not won in that fashion twenty years ago and the eastern team refuses to believe that they can be won in that

The western team has no such inhibitions and no such traditions. It was readier for the new forms and takes to them. The stumbling block of the midwest in football now is not New England and New Jersey but California. The effect of the climate on football players there seems to take a lot of beating and it has not yet been successfully

MATRIMONIAL DOCTORS.

THE last written utterance of Andre Tridon was a book on sland personalities in which he made an appeal for a professionate be known as Dectors of Matrimony. The members of this profession, as suggested by Tridon, were to wise up the adolescents as the meaning of certain facial and to the meaning of certain facial and physical types. Tridon tells us that the magazine girl, the types that for ten to thirty years have been used for pictures in popular magazines, advertisements, posters, and to adorn the walls of the college boy, is a fine illustration of the thymic girl. The thymic girl is one that has never grown up mentally and physically in certain ways, and never will, and all because she has too much thymus. Triden says: "The childish pictorial art of the United States that has neglected pure, womanly beauty for the thymus type of young girl on magazine covers points with an accusing finger at surfeit and degen-eration."

But we can cheer up. Both Rome and Germany had our disease centuries ago and they recovered. Tridon says: "The flaxen haired angels represented in the medieval German paintings, the tall, REPLY.

1. Probably, yes. Neither infantile paralysis, crippling caused by it, flu, scarlet fever, deafness, poor speech, nor goiter is definitely inheritable in the average case. Some kind of deafness and speech troubles are inheritable to a limited extent.

2. She would be in considerable danger. Her goiter would get worse, and in all probability she has some deformity which would prevent the birth of a living child or greatly increase the hazard to the mother.

LA FOLLETTE TO BE PROMINENT IN RAIL LEGISLATION

Washington, D. C., Oct. 28.—[Special.]—Proposed railroad legislation in the next congress and the activities in that direction aircedy forecast by the radical Republicans, make the reorganization of the senate interstate commerce committee one of the most important features of preliminary work of the next congress.

This committee, which must consider all railroad legislation, was hard hit by the 1922 election. Six of its sixteen members were not returned to congress, among them some of the most active members of the committee.

The members who retired from the senate March 4, and who were members of the committee were Senator Kellogg (Rep., Minn.), Senator Poindexter ene (Dem., O.), Senator Poindexter (Rep., Wash), Senator Frelinghuysen (Rep., N. J.), Senator Townsend (Rep., Mich.), and Senator Myers (Dem., Mont.).

Sounds impossible, doesn't it? Who er heard of the local taxpayers getig something desirable for nothing?
requently they do not even get all sy pay for and the highest hope of ne-tenths of them is to get approxitely the value of the taxes paid. mine-tenths of them is to get approximately the value of the taxes paid.

But Judge Caverly says he can obtain $4,000,000 for the taxpayers without expense. He has submitted his plan to a number of persons, who beleve it to be sound and desire to give t a trial. Among those are Charles
2. Holden, head of the Chicago crims commission, Robert H. Hunter, Carl

We are telling the readers of The Tribune a true story. We prevailed on Peter's mother, Mrs. Van Dresser, to let us tell you about her son. Would you like to see how Peter began, what it was he found when he first dipped into The Book of Knowledge, how the thousand and one questions buzzing through his eager brain, about trains and airplanes, stars and birds and animals, all the questions an active mind could bring up, were answered in a way that led him to the genuine success that is his? The kind of pictures Peter saw, the clear, simple explanations Peter read, you will find in the four complete sections from The Book of Knowledge that we invite you to have free. They are in an interesting 40-page booklet that contains over a hundred of the "pictures that teach." Every reader of The Tribune is welcome to a copy. If you have a child you cannot fail to be interested in Peter and what The Book of Knowledge has done for him. You owe it to your child to find out. So mail the coupon and receive with our compliments the Free Book.

This boy was ready for his chance

Take a good look at Peter. He is the kind of boy who always wins in whatever he undertakes to do. When a golden opportunity is offered to him he is ready to grasp it. Today he is fourteen years old, president of his class, and one of those boys the school looks to for leadership in all its activities,whether tennis, baseball, or the debating society. Peter is not a little bookworm, - he is an all round boy, two years ahead of most boys of his age. He has learned how to think for himself. Peter's mother, Mrs. Jasmine Stone Van Dresser, says:

"As soon as he could read, Peter began reading The Book of Knowledge. During the important formative period of his life he 'gobbled up' the simple, delightful explanations contained in the the natural phenomena about us, and when a little mind is filled with wonderful thoughts like these, there is no room for things that should not be there. We gave Peter

The BOOK of KNOWLEDGE

10,000 pictures that teach

"What Peter read supplemented his school work, as he grew older; and when he was twelve years old, I realized the value of what he had been getting from these books.

"He then had a chance to win a scholarship. I held my breath while Peter took the tests. He passed.

"No boy who delved as Peter had in the pages of The Book of Knowledge could have failed. The questions and discussions of the test interested him; they did not frighten him. Good habits of thought had been formed. He had a vast fund of information, considerable knowledge of literature, and was sure of what he knew.

"Busy as Peter is, he will go to the bookcase whenever he has a spare moment, slip out a Book of Knowledge, find a cozy corner, or sprawl on the floor on his stomach and is lost to the world. Peter's parents know how much he owes to The Book of Knowledge habit."

to produce the colossal Unabridged Standard Dictionary upon which this newest Dictionary is based.

The English Language of To-day at Your Command

Are you familiar with the wealth of new words with which our already wonderfully expressive tongue has been enriched since the Great War-even during the past few months? Can you, on the instant, use them correctly in your conversation and writings? Do you fully comprehend their true meaning when you see them in the current newspapers, periodicals, and books, and in your daily mail—when you hear them from the pulpit, on the stage, and in the conversation of your friends? Can you define and pronounce them accurately for your children?

Best "Every-Day" Dictionary
"It is the best every-day dictionary we have seen, being ideally adapted to use on the desk of the writer, the table of the reader, and the workshop of the student."—Detroit Journal.

Defines All the New Words Including

Colloquialisms and Slang

The Funk & Wagnalls Practical Standard Dictionary defines the very newest words and phrases in our language, such as audiometer, book value, Dail Biream, Insulin, Milline, radiobroadcasting, radiophone, synuro, vactuphone, variacoupler, vitamin, etc. It brings to you the very newest meanings of old terms, and brings you down-to-the-minute information on all the changes taking place in our language.

It Answers the Questions That Children Ask

In schools, in business offices, in bomes—for physicians, doctors, lawyers, writers—for public speakers, students, men of affairs—for club women, business women, society women, and "old-fashioned" (?) women directing home affairs—for parents who are training their children in that priceless accomplishment, the correct use of our language—for all who speak, read, or write English, or who desire to do so, this volume will prove a neverfailing guide of sterling worth.

Authorities Hail It As Best

Philadelphia Public Ledger: "It is so far superior to any other American dictionary of its size that it will be welcomed by every one who wants a handy reference book."

"Lowrie certainly permitted a lot of flowers to be picked for me," she subtited. "Andrew must have stripped his greenhouses."

"And proud and happy he was, ma'am," young Andrew ventured to obserte, "to give them to you."

This was all very patriarchal. Valerie was not accustomed to dinner the at which the servants took part in the family conversation. But on the hole she rather liked it—at least she preferred it to Aunt Hadasah's monogure. Also, in justice to McTavish and Andrew, she recognized that it was small here. Both men were undoubtedly in a state of amoidering emotion, of the tight rein on their Scotch tongues was momentarily relaxed.

After dinner Mrs. Chapin effaced herself with unexpected that and the order stried down before the fire in the library, side by side, in chairs at enfolded them like tender arms. He glanced around. McTavish had vanished. The peace and beauty of the big toom enveloped them like the waters of a rising sea.

"I know," he told her, and absently settled down on his spine, slipping one leg over an arm of the chair in what, she was learning, was his pet attimede of relaxation. Opera Without Bill at State-Lake Stars Is Star Performance

Die Meistersinger'a Joy as Wagnerians Sing It.

BY EDWARD MOORE. The Wagnerians, now at the Great

Northern theater, have apparently solved the problem of making an operatic performance greater than any single element, or, for that matter, but that's a hard questhan the sum of all the elements. They have no stars, and they give a high percentage of opera that is worth going a long trip to witness. Such a state of affairs is unusual to the point of being discon-

The company opened with "Die Meistersinger" last night, and it was bright, sunny, unponderous, and inti-mate. The various items were so well proportioned and balanced that a star in such surroundings would have been obliged to watch his step in most un-stellar fashion. Without one, they got tmosphere, which also is unusual.

Stars or not, the list of assets is long. Here was a group of some fifteen excellent men and two excellent enough for me. women. Here was a chorus, of small women. Here was a chorus, of small dimensions but so well trained that it looked and sounded about three times its true size. Here was a new orchestra, the State Symphony, of New York, and a good one. Here was Josef Stransky, conductor, formerly of the New York Philharmonic. I never liked him so well as in this manifestation. Add enforce the law the scenery that was adequate but rose on. scenery that was adequate but not obtrusive, lighting effects that neither went wrong nor became too brilliant, costumes looking as though they belonged to the period, and short intermissions, and there were some of the reasons for a performance that was really long but seemed short.

A few of the good men were Theodor Lattermann, as Hans Sachs, and also stage director; Adolf Schöpflin, as Pogner; Robert Hutt, as Stolzing; Paul Schwarz, as David, and Eduard Kandl, as Beckmesser, the last named entitled to special notice because he did titled to special notice because he did cooperation not clown the part but played with | a Malvollo-like and highly effective solemnity. The women were Editha Felscher, as Eva, and Emma Basth, as Magdalena.

"Das Rheingold," first section of the "Ring," will be sung tonight.

The best of his kind, John Philip that's the quickest way The best of his kind, John Philip Sousa and his band, stayed for only one afternoon and evening at the Auditorium yesterday, but it was long enough to renew and intensify all former opinions of a band concert as being worth the while of any one who esteems good tunes in his music. There were marches old and new, still with their toetingling impulse; there were arrangements of late events for popular music; there was at least one essay into music of the kind that is usually referred to the symphony or chestras.

This one was Ernest Schelling's "A Hazel Dawn now with "Niffies" at "Now bring me some ham and error!"

Whereupon he is incontinently cast out. He wanders to Natchez, and, unwittingly, into a gambling den; has conversation with the swashbuckling Gen. Orlando Jackson, keeper of the place, who, in his dismayed presence, kills two men and sits down to be order of ham and eggs. Something stirs within the boy. A gambler insults him contensity and snatching a pistol, he pursues him into the street. In a moment he is back.

"Tre Vetilled Capt. Blackie," he pants. "Now bring me some ham and error!"

recitnic, and at all times a tremendous rernonality and personage. Rudolph Polk, violinist, was heard in a fine performance of Sarasate's "Tarentella."

Piano playing of a high order was the rule at the Playhouse yesterday, where Harold Bauer appeared for a recital. Mr. Bauer makes few concessions to the glitters and gands of popularity. His own arrangement of a Bach Toccata for harpischord, a Beethoven sonata, and the Handel-Brahms variations made up three quarters of his program.

Think Twice about BOSTON

CUCCESSFUL newspaper advertising in the Boston market requires a different kind of planning from that employed in any other city.

You should think twice before you spend your Boston advertising appropriation. Consider and compare the circulations of Boston's papers of course. Plan to disburse your dollars through the media whose pages guarantee the greatest number of prospective customers for your product. But-before your final choice is made-remember that in Boston you must solve a problem that is presented by no other city. It is the problem of a divided market.

Within the thirty-mile trading area of Metropolitan Boston live two distinct groups of people. The forces that separate these two groups are as old as Boston itself -yet their influence is as strong to-day as it was a hundred years ago. Long standing sympathies—associations and environment that never change—these forces divide the population of Boston so clearly, so permanently, that even the newspapers of Boston must conform to this division.

Every Boston newspaper must, and does, secure its circulation among one or the other of these two groups of people. Serving one group effectively there are several papers. But to reach that group of Boston people who represent the most responsive and profitable section of the Boston market your advertising must be carried in the columns of the Herald-Traveler.

That Boston is a two-group city—that its most important group is reached effectively by the Herald-Traveler only, is a proven fact. The advertiser who seeks additional information to guide the formation of his Boston campaign should send for the booklet, "The Road to Boston." It is furnished free upon receipt of a request on business stationery.

Agriculture is the great basic industry, and wheat is the keystone of agriculture. Business can't be sound while the farmer is receiving less for his wheat than it cost him to raise it."

This sad story, capitalized and magnified by politicians, is a drag on all our activities. A few facts will put the wheat bugaboo in proper perspective.

OF the vast fundamental importance of agriculture there can be no question. Each year it creates billions of dollars' worth of new wealth—furnishes the raw materials for food and clothing—forms an indispensable factor, not only for national prosperity but for national existence. Nevertheless the following figures are worthy of thoughtful consideration:

			the second secon	The same of the
1			Únited States	-1914
/		Value of manq-	$24,246,000,000	719
/ 29%	71%	Value of all Farm Products	9,895,000,000	29%
Farm	Value]	Total	$34,141,000,000	100%
Manufacturers)			United States—1919
Maituia	cluibrs /	Value of manu-	$62,418,000,000	719
	/	Value of all Form	24,961,000,000	. 299
		Total	$87,379,000,000	1009

Value of manufactured products was more than double that of farm products. Mines, forests, transportation, commerce, are also great factors in our national wealth.

Manufactures, of course, consist of cotton and corn and lumber and steel and hogs after they have been converted into dresses, starch, furniture, automobiles and bacon. Agriculture is essential, but we are not merely an agricultural nation.

Nor is agriculture all wheat raising. Consider the following figures:

Value of Crops from American Farms (1922) $	8,961,000,000	63%
Value of Animal Products, American Farms (1922).	5,349,000,000	37%
Total Value of American Farm Products$	14,310,000,000	100%

The up-to-date farmer sells his crops at a great advantage by converting them into animal products—beef, milk, wool, hides, eggs, etc. He does not rely solely on marketing his grain and hay as such.

Nevertheless, crops last year were valued at 63% of farm product values, so their importance is obvious. But what proportion of the total farm production is the wheat crop?

Wheat last year accounted for 6% of the revenues of American farmers, as shown by the chart opposite.

Wheat was exceeded as a revenue producer by the following:

Corn	3%	of tota	IU.S.	farm re	venues
Forage1			"	"	29
Cotton			29	22	22
Vegetables			. "	, ,,	29

The value of the fruit crop comes within hailing distance of the wheat crop—and dairy products or hen products, either one, exceed the wheat crop in value. Mines yield several times the value of the wheat crop, and forest products are far greater in value.

What of 1923?

THE FOREGOING statistics are from previous years. What is the situation now? Is the American farmer worse off than last year? Are we headed for a depression induced by low priced wheat?

Here are the latest government estimates: Value of 1923 Wheat Crop—

$50,751,380 less than 1922 crop Value of 1923 Corn Crop—

$808,707,488 more than 1922 crop
The increase in value of the corn crop alone is sixteen times the decrease in value of the wheat crop. Wheat is NOT,

TOTALING gains and losses for all crops we find that the farmers of the United States will have from crops alone in excess of a billion seven hundred million dollars more revenue in 1923 than in 1922. Crop prices are now up 25% as compared with 1921.

Animal products also will yield more cash to the farmers than last year. Even the lower prices for hogs have been counterbalanced by the millions more hogs being marketed.

Nor is the whole story told when we say that crops are good and prices are fair. Of exceeding importance is the fact that the farmer's margin of profit is in general higher this year than last year. Scarcity of labor has forced him to raise his crops with the toil of himself and his family. It has been hard, grinding work, but it means more profits.

Farmers who risked their all on wheat may be in distress, but farmers in general, and particularly farmers in the corn belt of Illinois, Indiana and Iowa, the fruit belt of Michigan and the dairy belt of Wisconsin, are paying off their mortgages.

Even in Iowa, which was hardest hit in the 1921 slump, the farmers have voluntarily repaid eighteen million dollars of the twenty-four million dollars loaned them

Bass by the War Finance Corporation.

Sales of mail order houses prove beyond question that the farmer is not broke, but is on the up-grade. Memorize these figures:

Sales of Mail Order Houses

22% In	crease.	$ 4,588,000

Wheat is not king! Times are not bad! We are enjoying sound prosperity and there is nothing in the agricultural situation to indicate that this prosperity is not to endure.

THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE believes that conditions are sound and is backing this judgment by ordering many new presses, erecting the monumental Tribune Tower, publishing a new magazine, purchasing thousands of square miles of timber lands, erecting a new paper mill—enterprises which involve millions of dollars. The Chicago Tribune is selling an unprecedented number of papers and an unprecedented amount of advertising. We expect to sell still more of both.

For the business man with vision and courage, we believe that an era of unparalleled prosperity is opening.

Business is as good as we make it!

If the government should come out with a statement showing the situation as it actually exists it is improbable that prices would decline to any great extent on claim that can be imagined. Speculative sentiment in corn is rather more bearish amongst many leading traders, who have been bullish for a long time. Shippers have had an unpleasant experience in selling corn for future loading here the last two months and have less corn sold for November and December loading than for many years. This should affect the cash corn market, although it is difficult to tell what the findustries will do. They are mostly optomic acting on new corn at present. October corn closed Saturday at 98c, a drop of

Do this BEFORE you buy an adding machine

Doug any adding machine, get the Victor—the $100 standard adding machine—on free trial. Compare it point by point. Operate it—use it in your own work.

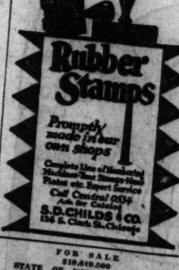

Notice Victor's eight rows of keys—million dollar capacity. Why be satisfied with smaller capacity—when the Victor full-size keyboard actually costs you less? Add with the Victor; subtract, multiply and divide. Note its standard keyboard—simple operation—sturdy construction.

Concentration on one model is the reason for Victor's low price. Standardized manufacture, selling and service. A Free Trial will not obligate you. Know the Victor at first hand. See your Victor Dealer—or phone or write to Victor Adding Machine Co., 319 No. Albany Ave., Chicago. Phone Nevada 7800.
